UNION STATE CONVENTION:

The majority of the Central Committee pointed by the Union Convention of Kentucky, that assembled in Louisville on the 21st of March, 1861, to discuss their duty and right to call another Convention. Therefore, it is resolved that the voters of State who stand upon and endorse the Democratic convention held in the city of Louisville on the 18th of March, last, and who desire to have it be re-espoused to select delegates to a State electoral ticket, and selecting delegates to the Union Conservative National convention held in the city of Olney on the 4th of July, next.

GEORGE GUTHRIE, Chairman.

GEORGE D. PRENTISS,

GEORGE P. DOERY,

HAMILTON POPE.

MONDAY, MAY 2, 1861.

SWORD PRESENTATION.—The Union citizens of Madison county recently presented to Col. George T. Shackford, of the 6th Kentucky Infantry, a magnificent sword as a token of their appreciation of his services. Col. S. entered his regiment when I was under command of Brig. Gen. Whitaker, as Adjutant, on December 10, 1861, was promoted Major May 18, 1862, Lieutenant Col. on January 1, 1863, in place of George T. Cotton, killed at Stone River, and when Gen. Whitaker was made a Brigadier he was, in July last, appointed to the command of the 6th, and during his entire service has been in active employment. A citizen of Richmond, this present from his immediate neighbor must have been peculiarly acceptable to him, in view of the donors, Drs. Edward Evans, delivered the sword, with the following remarks:

Col. T. Shackford, Col. 6th Ky. Infantry:

Sir: I address you on behalf of a number of your friends in and about Richmond, Ky., who have watched your conduct as an American soldier during the past three years of Civil War, and who are anxious to let you know what you have done for your country and that because the amendment provided for the crediting of white men as well as negroes, Kentucky, while getting credit for seven or eight thousand negroes enlisted in other States, would have had to account in turn to other States for a few hundred white men, which would have rendered the amendment not only of no "material value" to her but "a serious evil!" closing this dismal squeak in answer to the first part of your reply, having paid no regard whatever to the second part, with a bold flourish, importuning a sense of rebirth, and of the resurrection of Kentucky!

In testimony of our appreciation of your services, so far as rendered your cause, I, and those for whom I speak, present you this sword-much, "Shiloh" and "Chickamauga."

It is but a slight expression of the gratitude of us, who were enjoying the blessings of peaceful homes, when you and your noble regiment, with other heroic regiments, came to the rescue, a pillar of fire, between our homes and the hells of rebellion, who with determined mettle were bearing with a dauntless spirit the brunt of the battle of Chickamauga.

In our memory of you, we will always rank you with your name those memorable words of the Declaration of Independence, "We do no greater deeds, those words will be sufficient for an honorable history."

They are enough, without the aid of political action houses and quakers with equal power. Let the Union men in the counties that have not yet acted in this matter see to it that seasonal action is taken. A large convention of the first and truest patriots of Kentucky is demanded by the highest interests alike of the Commonwealth and of the Union. And we rejoice to say that the convention bids fair to be one of the very largest and most distinguished ever held in the State. We hope that, at the close of the present week there will be few counties which have not either appointed delegates or taken the steps necessary to the appointment. The issue in Kentucky is now very distinctly made up between the two parties, the abolition executive committee having formally postponed the abolition convention from the ninth of May to the twenty-fifth, in deference to the opinions of various abolitionists as expressed in the columns of the Free Soil Commonwealth, and others of the kind.

There will be probably a single abolition convention, which will be held at the same time and place with the Union convention. This should be as it must prove an additional incentive to the Union men of Kentucky to come up in full force and from all quarters in order to assert the principles and to vindicate the honor of the Commonwealth.

We know this incentive cannot be powerless. In the hands of the organ of political action houses and quakers with equal power. Let the Union men in the counties that have not yet acted in this matter see to it that seasonal action is taken. A large convention of the first and truest patriots of Kentucky is demanded by the highest interests alike of the Commonwealth and of the Union. In response Colonel Shackford said:

Willard Davis, Esq.—I accept with gratitude and pleasure the sword—beautiful offering and testimony of the esteem of my friends for me. I am a soldier, and the hearty gift, the eloquent manner in which you have presented it, and for the sake of the donor, I receive it with thankfulness.

At the very commencement of our unfortunate difficulties I enlisted as an "American soldier," and resolved to stand by an ideal friend, and to sacrifice all for the cause of our country's independence, and of liberty wherever those who love it have persecuted it by land or sea. I have an ardent desire to serve my country, and to die for her.

Upon the bloody fields of Shiloh and Chickamauga, to which you have alluded, I tried to discharge faithfully all the duties of a soldier, and of a son, and all my efforts, my ardor, my energy, and the heavy cost of the gift, the eloquent manner in which you have presented it, and for the sake of the donor, I receive it with thankfulness.

At the very commencement of our unfortunate difficulties I enlisted as an "American soldier," and resolved to stand by an ideal friend, and to sacrifice all for the cause of our country's independence, and of liberty wherever those who love it have persecuted it by land or sea. To our dear Subscribers.—We announced two weeks ago that after the first of April world increase the price of the Daily Journal to twelve dollars a year, and our dear friends will bear in mind to that date.

The Journal will be delivered by the month to subscribers in any part of the country who are not sufficient to pay the postage, and will take it. Those persons desiring to do so will please leave word at the office.

NETTEN'S GANG.—Capt. Hatchett, of the 1st Regt. Kentucky, who was sent with his command to Memphis on the lower Green river, arrived yesterday to Bowling Green yesterday morning. The Captain and his command came in sight of Memphis and two negroes and two negroes on Tuesday last, between Pond river and Slidellville in Marion county, and fired on them, but the rebels, being well mounted, fled precipitately, leaving the amount of blockade running along our coast, and which winds up the British character of the great-projected grand-Atlantic-consolidated-southern-British-blockade running-association. The Attorney General not only states that this corporation is not legal, but adds that every share-holder will be guilty of a misdemeanor under the Foreign Enlistment act. This decision may not, however, immediately influence blockade running by individuals. It does prevent an organization, and is a tact, legal acknowledgment of the wrong, and is, so far, important and valuable to us.

BOSTON.—The "Tax Book" of the city of Boston is just out. There were 25 persons who paid a tax of over $5,000 last year; 510 paid $1,000, and 1,382 paid $500. Mr. Augustus Hemmings is the richest man in Boston. He is taxed on $25,000 of real estate, $2,700 of personal property, and $2,700 of stocks and bonds.

The next largest taxpayers are Alphonse Hardy and others of trustees of the Sears estate; James M. Beebe & Associates; Boston Gas Light Company; Fifty and David Sears (who is taxed upon $800,000 real estate and $500,000 personal, or a total of $1,300,000).

We have the information in the course of the news establishment, for although we cannot state many instances, they have not the privacy which many persons desire to have. Those who have known the secret, will be surprised to see how it has been reported, and what an air of cleanliness and comfort pervades it throughout. The proprietors tell us that they are determined to be unexcelled, and that they will bend every energy to meet the requirements of all kinds of provisions will be made. We hope that the new proprietors will be successful, and that the new champagne bottles, with a vigorous pop, and that it will sparkle, effervesce, and exhilarate as the headed bubbles which "rise to the lip while drinking."
